The Northern Virginia Chapter of the American Society of Safety Engineers is accepting applications for its 2018 Corporate Safety Award Program. This award recognizes companies or government agencies who have demonstrated a commitment to employee health & safety. To qualify applicants must have achieved an OSHA DART (Days Away From Work, Job Restriction or Job Transfer) Incidence Rate below the national average for their company's/agency's North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) code.

The DART Incidence Rate Calculator and Comparison Tool are available through the Bureau of Labor Statistics at <http://data.bls.gov/IIRC/>.

To obtain a DART rate using the Incidence Rate Calculator, you will need to enter the number of hours actually worked by all employees at your company/agency, the number of cases involving days away from work only and the number of cases involving job transfer or restricted work activity only, then select the most current year, an Area, Supersector, and Industry that best represents your company.

Company DART Incidence Rate: [redacted] Industry DART Incidence Rate: [redacted]

Are you the person responsible for safety? Yes No

If no, please provide name and contact information for company safety representative:
